```
points =  [0, 3, 6]
matrice initiale =
   0   3
   3   0   3   3
       3   0       3
       3       0   3
           3   3   0   3
                   3   0
```

```
points =  [0, 3, 5, 8]
matrice initiale =
   0   3
   3   0   3   2
       3   0       2
       2       0   3       3
           2   3   0   2       3
                   2   0           3
               3           0   3
                   3       3   0   2
                       3       2   0   3
                                   3   0
```

```
points =  [0, 3, 5, 7, 10]
matrice initiale =
   0   3
   3   0   3   2
       3   0       2
       2       0   3       2
           2   3   0   2       2
                   2   0           2
               2           0   3           3
                   2       3   0   2           3
                       2       2   0   2           3
                                   2   0               3
                           3               0   3
                               3           3   0   2
                                   3           2   0   2
                                       3           2   0   3
                                                   3   0
```

```
points =  [0, 3, 5, 7, 12]
matrice initiale =
   0   3
   3   0   3   2
       3   0       2
       2       0   3       2
           2   3   0   2       2
                   2   0           2
               2           0   3           5
                   2       3   0   2           5
                       2       2   0   2           5
                                   2   0               5
                           5               0   3
                               5           3   0   2
                                   5           2   0   2
                                       5           2   0   5
                                                   5   0
```